Behaviour Management for Teaching Assistants and Cover Supervisors – 28th March 2018, 09.30 – 15.30hrs

Who is this course for?

This course, provided by Creative Education, is ideally suited to cover supervisors and teaching assistants in secondary schools aiming to develop classroom leadership skills.

Why attend?

The course will better equip you to create the positive learning climate necessary for effective and successful learning.

Developing a purposeful learning atmosphere is essential in order for effective pupil progress to occur. This can provide all sorts of challenges and issues for non-teaching staff who may be responsible for leading learning in the absence of the regular classroom teacher, or supporting the classroom teacher with students demonstrating challenging behaviours or special educational needs.

Outcomes

- Become a confident classroom leader
- Develop behaviour management skills to create positive learning climates
- Be able to use the language of 'choice' and 'consequence' to manage pupil behaviour
- To identify and deal effectively with low level disruption
- Develop some specific strategies to manage the 'noisy' class
- Develop strategies to deal with challenging behaviours, including SEN, and avoiding confrontation

Lunch will be provided and refreshments will be available throughout the day.
